About Bell Gully

Bell Gully is New Zealand's leading law firm and has a depth of experience advising investors at all stages of the investment life cycle. With this experience, we can help turn innovation into a successful business venture.

At Bell Gully, we recognise that innovation and entrepreneurship are vital to the success of New Zealand's economy.

We have a successful history of advising investors in start-up companies on areas such as corporate structure, capital raising, licensing, joint ventures, employment and tax.

Our range of work and clients reflects our full-service principle.

We advise organisations developing new technologies including researchers, venture capitalists and government agencies.

Bell Gully also has extensive expertise in all aspects of private equity transactions, including:

- private equity fundraising;
- mergers and acquisitions, including management buyouts and leveraged buyouts; and
- start-up, seek and expansion capital investment for new or emerging growth companies.

Why Bell Gully?

- We have committed skill and resource to building expertise and profile in the area of new technologies, including biotechnology and ICT. We have a dedicated communications, technology and media team with industry-specific knowledge of those sectors.
- Bell Gully has the depth and breadth across the range of disciplines that a private equity client or venture capital company is likely to need – in addition to the key corporate and M&A disciplines, these areas include tax, financing and litigation.
- Our experience of large transactions involving complex completion hurdles and multiple parties means our lawyers have developed genuine project management skills – these skills add real value and allow clients to focus on their investment.
- We maintain a strong network of contacts in the New Zealand venture capital and private equity market – with a particular focus on potential investors and their advisers in the ICT and biotechnology area.
